Bormio & Malta—
 Pac Rim's 2005 European trip will be to Bormio, Italy with an extension to Malta. We have booked the 4-star Hotel Baita del Pini in Bormio close to the ski area and the old-town. Catherine has eaten there and says the meals were 5-star.

Bormio is skiable at just over 3,000 m (almost 10,000 feet) from convenient lifts operating near our hotel. There are about 50 miles of prepared slopes for skiers of all abilities. Also there is a World Cup downhill run that is truly awesome.

The "Bagni Vecchi" ("Old Baths") is one of the two thermal centers of Bormio. These therapeutic waters come from nine different springs with a temperature of 98.6° - 105.8° F. (See page 7)

Two Outstanding Ski Weeks—
 Pac Rim will be joining LA Council February 5-12, 2005 for a trip to Steamboat and FWSA for a trip to Snowmass January 29 February 5, 2005. We are offering these trips separately or as one. We need to know ASAP if you are planning to participate in both ski weeks.

While most of our air will be out of LAX, we will have air out of San Diego, Las Vegas and other airports. We need for you to sign up now so we can lock in the air for airports other than LAX. Our LAX air for Steamboat into Hayden is excellent and can be found on page 8. We are still waiting for air prices and routes for Aspen. The ground transfer cost will depend on which airport you are flying into.

Our lodging for both resorts is Ski-In / Ski-Out with the Aspen package being $849 (plus air and ground transfer). At Steamboat, we have two properties to choose from, Thunderhead at $899 + air and the very upscale Torian Plum for $1149 + air. All property we have chosen are 2 bedroom/2 bath. (See page 8)

Family Picnic—
 Once again I will be running the San Diego Family Picnic on Sunday, June 27, 2004 at Crown Point North Beach. We will have the usual beer, burgers, fish fry and more. All this is only $5 with kids under 12 being free. It's a lot of fun. After lunch we have games for the kids and games for the adults. Everyone is a winner. (See page 3)

FWSA Convention—
 Far West Ski Association is holding it annual convention at the Nugget in Sparks/Reno June 10-13, 2004. Let me know if you are interested in attending. (See page 3)

Wine Maker Dinner—
 The next Wine Maker Dinner for the Jimmie Heuga Center is scheduled for Saturday, September 18, 2004. Price will be $60 per person. You can send your checks made out to the Heuga Center to me at 10818 Viacha Dr., San Diego, CA 92124. Checks will be sent to the Heuga Center as we receive them. This event sold out last year and I am planning even more surprises for this year. (See page 2) ■

SKI HISTORY

Maple Valley, a ski area in Southern Vermont which has been closed for several ski seasons, is now listed for sale on the popular internet auction site, Ebay.com (search for "Ski Mountain").

The auction listing for the ski area first appeared on Saturday, April 22, 2004 and is scheduled to last 30 days with a starting bid of $2 million.

The ski area, with 2 double-chair lifts, snowmaking, tube park, tow lifts, 16,000 sq. ft. lodge, and grooming, with 800 feet of vertical on approximately 400 acres. ■

IMPORTANCE OF STRETCHING

Stretching is essential for maintaining flexibility, which can be lost as part of the normal ageing process or as our muscles develop. You should stretch the major muscle groups to prepare them for more vigorous use.

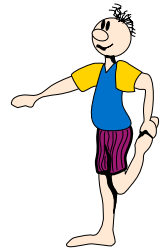

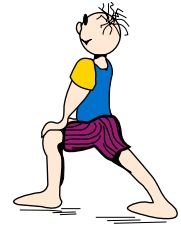

Hold each position for 10 seconds, and make sure you feel the stretch in the correct muscles. Pay particular attention to your back and knees, since these are vulnerable to injury.

Never be in a rush during your stretching, each move must be slow and relaxed. Never force a stretch too hard either as relaxed muscles are easier to strain. There should be no bouncing, no getting out of breath, no straining.

Build up your degree of flexibility over a period of months.

Stretching should be done while the muscles are still warm, either from exercise or after a bath.

Finish each training session with a thorough stretch for ten minutes to help dissipate lactic acid and hence to avoid muscle pain. ■

INDUSTRY

Ski News

by Catherine Ohl

Colorado Extreme Ski Law—

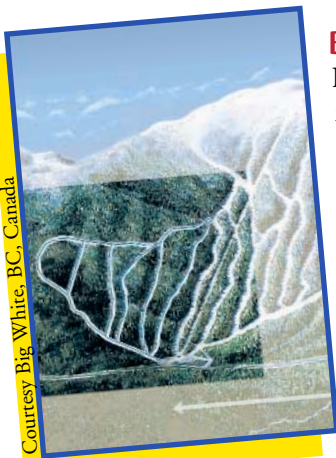

A bill poised to become law in Colorado would include cliffs and extremely steep slopes on the list of the inherent risks of the sport of skiing. The list already includes everything from trees and rocks to hydrants and lift towers to equipment in freestyle terrain parks such as rails, half-pipes, quarter-pipes, and fun boxes.

Under current law, resort operators are required to put up signs to warn skiers of obstacles, but once they do, those objects are no longer considered inherent risks and could be grounds for a lawsuit. That provision would be removed if this bill passes, thereby allowing resorts to warn skiers/boarders without increasing their liability.

Air France and KLM Merge—

Air France and KLM completed the last hurdle to the merger they agreed to last year. The merger, an Air France takeover in all but name, creates the largest airline in the world in terms of revenue. American, now second largest in revenue, remains the largest in terms of airline traffic.

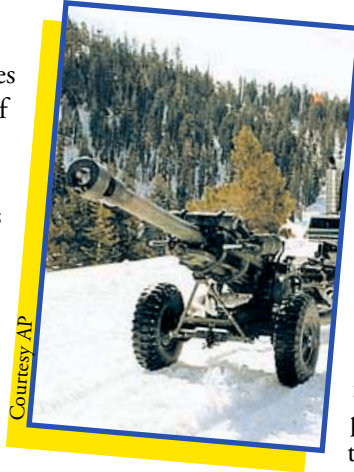

While Air France and KLM now are one company, they are maintaining their separate airline identities. The airline could get even bigger as Alitalia still wants to join. Air France and KLM, however, are first requiring Alitalia to get its financial house in order, and that won't be easy.

Big White Expands—

Big White Ski Resort Ltd. recently announced a massive summer construction project scheduled for completion prior to the start of the 2004-2005 winter season.

$127.9 million is the total value that will be spent on improvements and will include two new chair lifts, a state-of-the-art ski and snowboard terrain park, a new on-mountain day lodge including viewing deck,

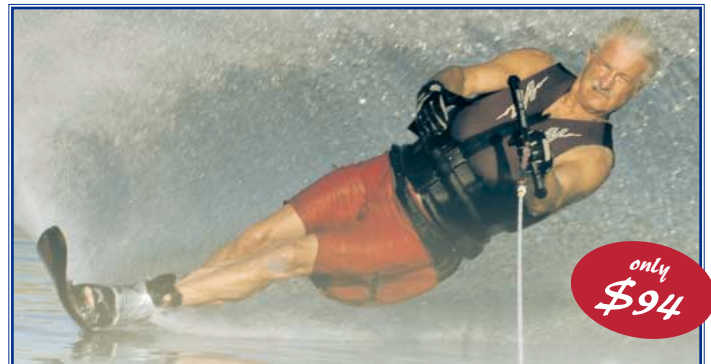

Army Wants it Howitzers Back—

The U.S. Army is asking for the return of five howitzers that two Sierra Nevada ski resorts use to prevent avalanches, saying it needs the guns for the fighting in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Alpine Meadows and Mammoth Mountain are the only ski resorts in the nation using the 119A howitzer. Resort officials said they spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to transport the guns, reimburse the Army for training, and build firing platforms. The resorts received the artillery pieces on loan from the Army and began using them last year for avalanche control. They have no problem returning them.

Other resorts have older 105 mm howitzers. The Forest Service said it is working to secure older howitzers for Mammoth and Alpine Meadows. ■

Everyone Welcome— Friends, Family, Beginner, Expert

VERBIER, SWITZERLAND

12-20 March 2003

Verbier is one of Europe's hottest ski spots. It's not hard to figure out why—the Four Vallées area is Switzerland's largest lift-linked ski area. The view from the top of Mont Fort Glacier was breathtaking. You could see all the Alps including Mont Blanc and the Matterhorn!!

The Golf Hotel was one of the best hotels we've ever stayed in. The meals were outstanding—creative and delicious. Unfortunately this is the Golf's last season as it will be torn down to make room for condos. We had fun looking around the hotel to see what we wanted to buy only to find that is was sold or too expensive.

The weather was fantastic. It was extremely cold and snowed just prior to our arrival. Bob Miller joined us from Austria where he had a great week skiing with his son Robert. He wasn't quite used to the spring conditions we encountered. Truthfully, we had powder the first day and skied in shirts and vests most of the week. It was awesome!

The hotel staff was excellent, especially the head waiter who turned out to be an extreme skier. Monday, he took some brave skiers, including Steve Wells, Larry Koch, and Dan Ross, off piste. Conditions weren't that great and they had a very challenging day. Later in the week, when the snow improved, James Davidson, Burt Griffin and Lee Juskalian joined him for another off piste adventure.

Wilma & Felix Caprez, from Chur, Switzerland, joined us for a few days. Later in the week, Elisabeth Maier's nephew skied with Christel Chang, Fran Papa and Jim Murchey.

The mogul field from hell was the route to Torin. Wolfgang Jahn, Bob Schulz, Trish Daigler, Pam Davison and most everyone else tackled it at least once. It was deceiving since the beginning was a nice groomed red run. Catherine Ohl figured out you could take the tram and get there at about the same time.

The Farinet After-Ski was the place to be after skiing. The weather was perfect for outdoor drinking and partying. The power shoppers were Giulio Catallo, Cindy Erickson and Yolande Erickson. They started their shopping before the rest of us even arrived.

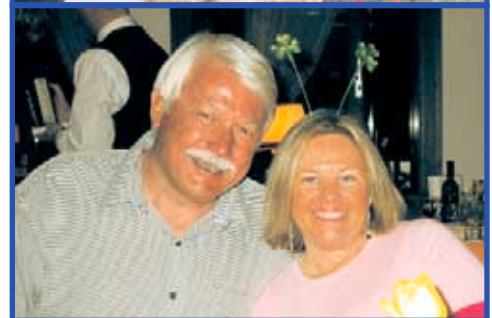

While no one was injured this trip, we had a few folks who were injured before the trip. Dick Anderson, had surgery on his rotator cup prior to Verbier so he rented a car and took various people on excursions each day. Merle Clark and Donna Buys were regulars. Franco Antonicelli, Jeany Davidson, Richard Frey, John Good, Judy Steele and Larry Stern joined Dick for a day trip to Aosta, a very quaint Italian town at the base of Pila, and Courmayeur.

There was lots of excitement in town since Verbier was hosting an extreme snowboard contest. Jeany had a nice conversation with a contestant from Mammoth. We were all set to watch as they helicoptered the boarders to their start, but since a storm was expected, they postponed the contest for a week.

Barcelona—

Barcelona was exciting! The first day we all took the Tourist bus to get the lay of the land. There was so much to see and do. Collectively, we probably did it all. Not to be missed was the Sagrada Familia, Picasso Museum, the Water Front, Güell Park, Museu del Vino in Vilafranca, the seaport village of Sitges, and all of Gaudi's work.

Most days we walked the La Rambla, the pulse of the city where the mimes were amazing. Unfortunately, we must return to Barcelona because Gene Fulkerson never got to see the Flamenco dancers. ■

KID'S KORNER

4 kids & grandkids

Summer is here— Water, Sun and Fun!

While childhood memories are often filled with carefree days of summer, emergency room doctors know it as “trauma season.” Tragedies peak during the summer months because children are supervised less, have more free time and engage in more outdoor activities.

Water Safety Tips for Kids—

- If you do not know how to swim, always wear a life jacket.

If you fall, get pushed in or accidentally get near deep water, a life jacket can keep you floating on the surface until you can get help. Even strong swimmers should wear a vest in deep or rough water.

- Swim with a buddy.

You've probably heard this many times, but it's worth saying again. If you get into trouble, your friend can get help fast.

- Always go feet first into unfamiliar water.
There could be rocks or tree stumps in rivers and lakes. Even pools can be more shallow than they look. So always check out the depth of water before you dive in.
- If you see someone in trouble, signal the lifeguard or responsible adult.
Don't try to rescue the person yourself— you could get pulled under the water. Wave your hands over your head to signal the lifeguard or another adult.
- Don't EVER pretend you are drowning.
It wastes the lifeguard's time and may take their attention away from someone who really needs help.
- It's a good idea to stay near people who know you and will notice if you are in trouble.
If you are with a group of people, have a check-in time and place to meet. Be sure you show up on time so you won't give the adults gray hairs.

- Don't let your friends tease you into something you don't want to do.
Even if all your friends are jumping in, don't do it if you are afraid or feel like you can't handle it. Knowing your limitations is nothing to be embarrassed about.
- Make sure you always follow the adult in charge's instructions!
- Wear sunscreen! ■

Online Safety Tips for Kids—

Kids, here's are some Safety Tips for you when you go online.

- Don't ever give out information about yourself like your last name, your phone number, where you live, or where you go to school.
- Never e-mail a picture of yourself to strangers.
- If somebody emails something to you that makes you uncomfortable, don't look around or explore. Tell your parents.
- Making plans to meet your internet buddies in real life is a really bad idea. People in real life can be very different from how they are online.
- Don't open up e-mails, files, or web pages that you get from people you don't know or trust.
- Don't ever give out your password, except to responsible adults in your family.
- Always follow your family's rules for the using the internet.
- Don't ever do anything that costs money. ■

Hotel Baita del Pini ****

Why Bormio—

Bormio's origins are linked to its thermal waters, which have been renowned for their curative powers since ancient times. The nine springs are mentioned in Roman documents dating back to the first century AD. Today the tradition continues in modern thermal baths, most notable being the Bagni Vecchi baths.

The resort's long history has given it a rich collection of architectural treasures which make it a very interesting place to stay. Centered around the busy Via Roma, Bormio's old buildings are decorated with frescoes. It is here in the old town where you will get a taste of true Italian life, especially in the evenings. Here, a maze of small lanes zig and zag in all directions where you can shop 'til you drop.

Bormio's 5,879' vertical drop is one of the longest in Italy. Bormio at 10,000' is not a vast inter-linked skiing domain, however it's a great place for those who love to get to the top of the mountain and cruise descents of up to 9 miles down to the resort. The lower two thirds of the slopes are forested and serviced by snow making. Bormio, chosen to host the 2005 World Cup Championships, is part of the Alta Valtellina Lift Pass system with access to the slopes of Livigno, Santa Caterina and San Colombano.

Trip price, with taxes and based on an exchange rate of 0.81, is actually $100 less than last year's trip and includes lift tickets. Also for the first time, we can offer air from San Diego, Las Vegas and other airports. ■

SNOWBOARD STRIP

Jeff Anderson Memorial Fund—

In honor of one of the world's most beloved snowboarders, the Boost Mobile Pro of Snowboarding's official kick-off party and on-site raffle were held the weekend of March 26-27, 2004 to raise money for the

Jeff Anderson Memorial Fund.

Boost Mobile Pro of Snowboarding sponsors, competitors and fans contributed approximately $30,000 to honor Jeff Anderson, a 10-year snowboarding hero who died last year at the young age of 23 as a result of a severe head injury.

Snowboarding competitors showed their support and have agreed to pool a portion of their winnings to donate $10,000 to the Jeff Anderson Memorial Fund.

All donations and raffle proceeds will be used to help fund a new world-class skate park in Jeff's hometown of Mammoth Lakes, California where youth can skateboard, hang out, and be safe. ■
